Anyone Considering Remodeling Their Kitchen

Dear Friend,

When my husband Scott and I decided to remodel our 70s style kitchen we faced several design problems. We felt our kitchen may be too small for the large island we wanted. We were concerned that by eliminating the cabinets above our peninsula we'd be sacrificing storage space. We also struggled with choosing materials and colors fearing drastic changes wouldn't transition well with the rest of the house.

We contacted several remodeling companies and were discouraged with the cookie cutter designs we were offered. What we saw looked much like updated versions of what we already had.

We were re-energized when Jeanine Clark offered her designs. The plans included everything we wanted including a 7' center island and floor to ceiling custom cabinetry in rich warm colors and style that is complementary to the rest of our home. Plus, unlike the other companies, her bid allowed for work we could do ourselves, which saved us money.

We found Jeanine to be a joy; rich in creativity and warm in personality, just like our new kitchen! We truly loved working with her and recommend her to anyone looking for someone with expertise in kitchen designs.

Sincerely,

Joan Freak
